A photograph of a warehouse aisle. The aisle is formed by two rows of high, blue metal shelving units. The shelves are filled with numerous cardboard boxes, some stacked high. The floor is a smooth, light-colored concrete that reflects the overhead lights. The aisle leads towards a bright light source at the far end, creating a strong perspective. On the right-hand shelving unit, there are two prominent red labels with white text that read 'R-13' and 'R-14'. The overall scene depicts a well-organized and spacious industrial storage environment.

A photograph showing a forklift operator in a green shirt loading a large, wrapped pallet onto the back of a truck. The forklift is a Toyota model, and the truck is a white box truck. The pallet is wrapped in clear plastic and has a wooden board attached to it. The operator is using the forklift to lift the pallet from the ground and place it on the truck's bed.
